DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-7, 9-15, 17, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Raulerson et al. (USPN 6,551,281).

Raulerson et al. discloses a catheter (10) having a stiffening section 51 as claimed, which is located in the middle of the catheter (see figure 2). The other catheter embodiments shown in figures 5 also show a separation of the catheter-stiffening element from the distal and proximal terminus and a needle hub (28) with a needle (36) see figure 5 and 6 and entire reference.

3. Claims 1-7, 9-15, 17, and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Orr et al. (USPN 5,263,938).

Orr et al. discloses a catheter (16) with a proximal section (10), a body (24) and a distal section (22) having a stiffening section 68 as claimed, which is located in the middle of the catheter (see figure 10). Orr et al. also shows a needle hub (56) with a needle (54) [see figure 8].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 8, 16, 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Raulerson et al. or Orr et al. as applied to the claims above.

Raulerson et al. or Orr et al. discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the stiffening coating having a thickness not exceeding about 0.08mm, and the sleeve being made out of PET. The instant disclosure describes this dimension as being merely preferable, and does not describe it as contributing any unexpected result to the catheter. As such this parameter is deemed matters of design choice (lacking in any criticality), well within the skill of the ordinary artisan, obtained through routine experimentation in determining optimum results. With respect to the PET material, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Raulerson et al. or Orr et al. with a PET material, since the selection of a known material based on its suitability for its intended use supported a prima facie obviousness determination in Sinclair & Carroll Co. v. Interchemical Corp., 325, U.S. 327, 65 USPQ 297 (1945).

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments, filed 3/23/07, with respect to Quinn et al. have been fully considered and are persuasive. The 102 and 103 Rejections have been withdrawn.
